

A Night in Amsterdam

A night out with four friends turns into a heck of a night for one of the women. We went out the door and I was fooling around in the hallway trying to make my friend laugh when we got in the elevator, I had no idea that someone was in the hall watching my antics and was right behind us. Strangely I was not ashamed but full of myself and sassy.

At night, Amsterdam canals are a sight to behold. With most of the canal bridges illuminated, they show a different light of the city.
